YEAR OF THE TIGER

Celebrating Lunar New Year

Go online to read the stories behind the latest releases!

Beyond the Perf

According to the Chinese lunar calendar, the Year of the Tiger begins on February 14, 2010. People born during the Year of the Tiger are said to be courageous, strong and mysterious. So why does the new Year of the Tiger stamp feature narcissus flowers? Although the stamp verso text provides a clue — that narcissus flowers are auspicious — there is much more to the story. If you'd like to discover the details behind artist Kam Mak's beautiful paintings for the Celebrating Lunar New Year series, I encourage you to visit www.BeyondThePerf.com.

We've created this new site — an online extension of our USA Philatelic catalog — in order to bring you in-depth information about stamps, cancellations and related events. Sign up to receive regular e-mails containing details on and stories about the newest releases. Then browse the site to catch up on past issues or search for articles by subject. You'll also find slideshows of stamp series, behind-the-scenes video interviews, and images of each stamp and cancellation in the annual program and First Day of Issue schedules.

And we're introducing a companion feature within this printed catalog. As you thumb through its pages, you'll notice the symbol of an arrow within a circle. This indicates that additional content about that particular stamp, cancellation or product can be found on BeyondThePerf.com.

We're excited about this online initiative and your response. Support has been overwhelming, and many of the articles and features on our site are a direct result of subscriber input. While our printed catalog continues to be the definitive listing of current stamps and stamp products, BeyondThePerf.com allows us to give you a deeper look inside the U.S. stamp program.

So, sign up to surf beyond the perf and join our online community!

A self-supporting government enterprise, the U.S. Postal Service is the only delivery service that reaches every address in the nation, 150 million residences, businesses and Post Office Boxes. The Postal Service receives no direct support from taxpayers. With 36,000 retail locations and the most frequently visited website in the federal government, the Postal Service relies on the sale of postage, products and services to pay for operating expenses. Named the Most Trusted Government Agency five consecutive years and the 60th Most Trusted Business in the nation by the Ponemon Institute, the Postal Service has annual revenue of more than $68 billion and delivers nearly half the world's mail. If it were a private sector company, the U.S. Postal Service would rank 26th in the 2008 Fortune 500.

New Issues

A | Abstract Expressionists

This stamp pane celebrates the artistic innovations and achievements of ten abstract expressionists, a group of artists who revolutionized art during the 1940s and 1950s and moved the U.S. to the forefront of the international art scene for the first time.

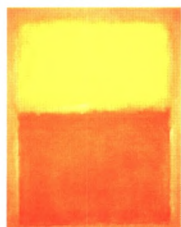

The function of the artist is to express reality as felt. Robert Motherwell

ABSTRACT EXPRESSIONISTS

The abstract expressionists revolutionized art and moved the U.S. to the center of the international art scene during the 1940s and 1950s. Based primarily in New York City, this group of artists with radically different styles created a new visual language based on color, motion, and the expression of universal truths. In the process, they transformed the act of painting into a means of self-discovery, which was both uniquely American and utterly new.

KWANZAA • USA 44

D | Kwanzaa

Stamp artist Lloyd McNeill created a festive, highly symbolic design to celebrate Kwanzaa, a non-religious holiday that takes place over seven days from December 26 to January 1. Kwanzaa draws on African traditions and takes its name from the phrase for "first fruits" in Swahili, a widely spoken African language.

A | The Simpsons

With these stamps, the U.S. Postal Service recognizes The Simpsons, the longest-running prime time comedy in American television history. Marking their 20th anniversary as a regularly scheduled half-hour show, this celebrated series remains a groundbreaking and innovative entertainment franchise, recognizable throughout the world. Cartoonist Matt Groening created the infamous Simpson family: Homer, Marge, Bart, Lisa and Maggie Simpson—all now identifiable by their silhouettes alone. For this project the Postal Service was pleased to use original artwork created by Groening.

Duck Stamps & Junior Duck Stamps

Proceeds from the sale of the Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp (the Federal Duck Stamp) fund the acquisition of wetlands and wildlife habitat for the National Wildlife Refuge System. Since its inception in 1934, the Federal Duck Stamp Program has generated more than $700 million for the preservation of some five million acres of American wetlands.

Proceeds from the sale of Junior Duck Stamps are used to support a national art and environmental education curriculum for students in grades K-12. The first-place national winning design is selected from the Best in Show designs from each of the fifty states, the District of Columbia and U.S. territories.

the international art scene during the 1940s and 1950s. Based primarily in New York City, this group of artists with radically different styles created a new visual language based on color, motion, and the expression of universal truths. In the process, they transformed the act of painting into a means of self-discovery, which was both uniquely American and utterly new.
